A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on May 11, 2009 has been entered.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 11-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mencke et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,712,295) in combination with Mencke et al (WO 96/38165) or Chabala et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,199,569).

Mencke et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,712,295) disclose methods of treating endoparasitic infections with agonists and antagonists of the nicotinic acetyl-choline receptors.

Mencke et al (WO 96/38165) disclose methods of treating endoparasitic infections with avermectins or milbemycin, including moxidectin.

Chabala et al disclose methods of treating ectoparasitic infections with avermectins (column 5, last paragraph).

It would have been prima facie obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to treat a subject having both an endoparasitic infection and an ectoparasitic infection with a combination of a known anti-endoparasitic agent and a known anti-ectoparasitic agent because such a person would have expected that said combination would be effective for the treatment of both infections.

Applicant's arguments filed May 11, 2009 have been considered but have not been found persuasive.

The treatment of an animal having both an endoparasitic infection and ectoparasitic infection was known in the art at the time of the claimed invention. Note that on page 2, lines 16-19 of the specification, it is stated "[F]or the protection of pets against both problems, two separate treatments (parenteral or oral treatment against endoparasites, dermal treatment against ectoparasites) have been customary hitherto". To combine both agents into a single composition for the administration by the same route would have been within the ordinary skill in the art at the time of the claimed invention.
